#1.00 Cont'd hearing re: Plan Agent's motion in limine to exclude the testimony of Douglas Christmas
fr. 4/7/21, 4/28/21

Docket 937

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 5/3/21. No updated tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 5/6/21, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear through Zoom for Government in accordance with the court's remote appearance instructions.

Prior tentative ruling as of 4/27/21. Off calendar. The court on its own motion continues the hearing on the motion to 5/6/21 at 2:00 p.m. to be conducted with the other hearings being continued to that date and time. No updated tentative ruling on the merits. No appearances are required on 4/28/21.

Prior tentative ruling. Regarding the motion, it is unclear whether the plan agent has attempted to take discovery of the witness specifically regarding the Banksy artwork dispute as he says that the witness has generally invoked the Fifth Amendment privilege in discovery proceedings in this case (there is no evidence in the moving papers showing that the witness invoked the Fifth Amendment privilege as to specific questions regarding the Banksy dispute, and furthermore, it does not appear that the proper steps to take discovery of the witness have been taken regarding the Banksy dispute, such as the service of a deposition notice or a witness subpoena regarding the Banksy dispute--service of an email request on the witness's counsel may be appropriate professional courtesy, but not legally sufficient here to warrant granting relief on this record). Moreover, the cases cited by the plan agent that a party who refuses to participate in discovery in a civil action by generally invoking the Fifth Amendment privilege forfeits the right to introduce evidence in the litigation as to matters which he or she has refused to testify are not precisely on point as the witness is not offering evidence on this specific matter since he is being called as a witness by other parties, the 400

South La Brea Defendants, and not for himself. However, once the plan agent has taken the proper steps to take the witness's deposition and the witness has refused or evaded such attempts, it would be unfair and prejudicial to the plan agent to allow the witness to testify. If the witness is being called to testify at trial, a party should be able to take discovery of that witness's testimony through a deposition before trial. It seems to the court that since the witness is a party to the adversary proceeding, the plan agent can serve a notice of deposition rather than a subpoena to take the deposition, though probably, given the background and history of this litigation, the parameters of the deposition should be discussed in advance between the parties, the witness and his counsel, and the court. Appearances are required on 4/7/21, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear through Zoom for Government in accordance with the court's remote appearance instructions.

#2.00 Cont'd hearing re: Plan agent's motion to limine to exclude the expert report submitted by 400 S. La Brea
fr. 3/17/21, 4/28/21

Docket 900

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 5/3/21. No updated tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 5/6/21, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear through Zoom for Government in accordance with the court's remote appearance instructions.

Prior tentative ruling as of 4/27/21. Off calendar. No updated tentative ruling on the merits. No appearances are required on 4/28/21.

Prior tentative ruling as of 4/5/21. Somewhat agreeing with the 400 South La Brea Defendants' observation that the court's "gatekeeping" function is more relaxed in the context of a bench trial, as the court is both the "gatekeeper" and the trier of fact, and not a jury, the court is inclined to defer ruling on the motion in limine to exclude the witness's testimony until trial or at least until all the expert witnesses are designated and their reports are served since argument has been made that the witness's knowledge and experience in the field is a sufficient foundation for him to testify on industry standards, i.e., commercial/industrial real estate leasing. Movant can renew the motion in limine at the start of trial, or interpose an objection to the testimony or make a motion to strike. Considering movant's reply, the court makes the further observation that although the testimony may be ultimately inadmissible, it may be useful and helpful to the court for it to be considered as further argument on behalf of the proponent. #3.00 Cont'd hearing re: 400 S. La Brea, LLC's motion in limine no. 1 to strike plan agent's expert designation and preclude testimony from plan agent's purported expert George I. Saadian
fr. 3/17/21, 4/7/21, 4/28/21

Docket 898

Tentative Ruling:

Updated tentative ruling as of 5/3/21. No updated tentative ruling on the merits. Appearances are required on 5/6/21, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear through Zoom for Government in accordance with the court's remote appearance instructions.

Revised tentative ruling as of 4/27/21. Off calendar. The court on its own motion continues the hearing on the motion for about one week to 5/6/21 at 2:00 p.m. because it needs more time to deliberate on the motion, given the recent supplemental filings by the parties. Preliminarily, the court is considering whether or not to adopt the same tentative ruling as to the other motions in limine, particularly since the purpose of the Saadian expert testimony was to rebut the expert testimony of defendants' expert, which is somewhat more open-ended than defendants describe in their motion. No appearances are required on 4/28/21.

Prior tentative ruling as of 4/5/21. The motion in limine to exclude the testimony of the designated expert witness is moot in light of the untimely death of the expert witness and the granting of the plan agent's motion to designate a replacement witness by 4/1/21. While movant filed a statement of nonopposition to its motion, the court notes that in light of its order granting the plan agent's motion to designate a replacement witness, the motion may be superseded by the designation of a replacement witness as permitted by the court. Appearances are required on 4/7/21, but counsel and self-represented parties must appear through Zoom for Government in

Prior tentative ruling. Regarding the issue of whether the court may enter a final judgment on the plan agent's claim to the Banksy artwork, the court agrees with the 400 South La Brea Defendants that the answer is no because the plan agent's claim is a noncore but otherwise related to the bankruptcy case subject to the restrictions of Stern v. Marshall, 564 U.S. 462 (2011). The plan agent's claim is based on California state law collection procedures to enforce the judgment entered by this court in this adversary proceeding against defendant Ace Museum through a judgment levy on property of the judgment debtor, Ace Museum, which is a nonbankruptcy debtor party, but legal title to the levied property is contested by third parties, the 400 South La Brea Defendants. Pursuant to California Code of Civil Procedure 720.170(d), the court will conduct a hearing to determine the third party claim of the 400 South La Brea Defendants to the property levied upon by the reorganized debtor as the judgment creditor of defendant Ace Museum. The dispute is whether the property belongs to Ace Museum subject to the reorganized debtor's judgment levy or to the 400 South La Brea Defendants, that is, the dispute is over ownership as to nonbankruptcy debtor parties. Thus, the court disagrees with the plan agent's characterization of his claim being a core proceeding over whether the property was part of the bankruptcy estate under 11 U.S.C. 541. Regardless whether the 400 South La Brea Defendants have asserted counterclaims in this adversary proceeding, this particular dispute involving the Banksy artwork is noncore because the action at issue does not "stem from the bankruptcy itself, nor would it necessarily be resolved in the claims allowance process." Stern v. Marshall, 564 U.S. at 499. Absent consent to the bankruptcy court's authority to enter a final judgment on the matter, which is not manifested here, the bankruptcy court may only proceed with hearing the dispute by issuing proposed findings of fact and conclusions of law for review and approval by the district court, which has the authority to enter a final judgment. Executive Benefits Insurance Agency v. Arkison, 573 U.S. 25, 35-37 (2014).

The court will discuss scheduling of the trial with the parties and conducting the trial remotely.

#6.00 Cont'd hearing re: Plaintiff's motion for summary judgment on conversion and breach of fiduciary duty against defendant Douglas Christmas fr. 3/30/21, 4/28/21

Docket 870

Tentative Ruling:

Revised tentative ruling as of 4/27/21. Off calendar. The court on its own motion continues the hearing on the motion for about one week to 5/6/21 at 2:00 p.m. because it needs more time to deliberate on the motion, given the volume of the moving and opposing papers. Preliminarily, the court needs to consider whether it needs to submit a report and recommendation on the motion to the district court for review since the subject claims are noncore state law claims within the purview of Stern v. Marshall, 564 U.S. 462 (2011) if it determines that the motion should be granted, when the court should refer any such report and recommendation to the district court, and how such referral will affect the resolution of the subject claims unresolved as to other parties. While the court tentatively determines that the motion should be granted for the reasons stated in the moving papers and that the oppositions lack merit, the court determines that the proposed statement of uncontroverted facts is too abbreviated and generalized to be useful to a reviewing court (i.e., whether this court, the district court or an appellate court). The proposed statement of uncontroverted facts and conclusions of law is not just a procedural requirement that can be submitted in a perfunctory manner under LBR 7056-1, but it is intended to serve as the court's reasoning in granting a summary judgment motion by specifically identifying each of the specific material facts in support of the motion and citing portions of pleadings, affidavits, depositions, interrogatory answers, admissions or other documents in evidence. The cursory citations to the court's Rule 2004 decision and the declarations are inadequate to perform this function. The court's Rule 2004 decision is not evidence as its findings are not law of the case or res judicata as to the subject claims as such claims were not before the court on the Rule 2004 motion. Cursory citations to the Ziegler, Leslie and Kincaid declarations in the proposed statement of uncontroverted facts and conclusions of law are inadequate because the references are to their statements of opinion, which are not evidence, as opposed to the underlying evidence of specific facts that support findings of the elements of the subject claims of conversion and breach of fiduciary duty, that is, there needs to be specific references to the underlying factual evidence. Also, if movant is requesting the court to draw adverse inferences to defendant Christmas, this is not accounted for in the proposed statement of uncontroverted facts and conclusions of law with specific references to his invocation of the Fifth Amendment privilege as to questions relating to specific elements of the subject claims. No appearances are required on 4/28/21.
